TRYING TO HIDE THE VILLAINY

Bribery, Intimidation, and Treachery Employed to Circumvent The Times Investigation-The Oppressed Are Increasing in Number Daily-Cases Placed in the Hands of Lawyers.

There were some startling and sensational developments yesterday afternoon in con-pection with the war The Times is waging against the beartless shylocks of Washing ton, whom a treasury clerk has aptly named 'the burgards of local finance.'

These men who have so long fattened their moneys by fliching from the hard-earned es of the poor, now feel, through The Times' exposure, the coils of outraged law and humanity tightening about them. They have day dreams of prisons and nightmares of the inferno. It is no wonder, therefore, in their efforts to escape the penalty of their misdeeds, these Shylocks are adding bribery to the other sins charged against them. Their purpose is to get possession of the evi-dence held against them, by their victims, in the shape of copies of chattel mortgages,

In order to do this they are resorting to bribery, threats, coaxing and intimition. Persons who have been victimized by the money grabbers are therefore cau-tioned not to surrender to them or their agents, accomplices or spies a single doc-ument bearing on their schemes of extortion and usury BRING THEM TO THE TIMES. Bring your papers to The Times office and place them in the hands of the firm of able attorneys who have promised to prosecute the rascals to the bitter end and make them disgorge the money they have wrong from the poor and unfor-tunate, in violation of the interest and usury law. Here is a case in point:

He resides with his wife and six children nce, No. 1217 Wylle street northeast. His salary upon which he has to support eight persons is only $1.50 for each working day. He has to his ssion a hunch of eleven receipts from possession a bunch of eleven receipts from the Capital Guarantee Company, of No. 602 F street northwest, representing $52.80 he has paid on an actual loan from that concern of $34.50. These receipts Mr. Sutton guards with Jealous care, for he has read in The Times, he says, that the day of retribution is near at hand. The first of The Times exposures of

The first of the times exposites of shylock methods appeared in the issue of last Thursday morning, and it was a blow straight from the shoulder. It sent the shylocks scurying to their holes.

The disgruntled caller then departed without having succeeded in briting honest John Sutton. The latter, however, is still being pursued. Yesterday he was called upon at his place of business by an acquaintance, who was no doubt employed by the shark. The acquaintance wanted Satton to lend him the notes, etc., for some trifling purpose. His real object was to get possession of them for the Thursday night caller. Instead of surrendering the papers, Sutton called at The Times office has night and placed his case in the hands of The Times attorneys. Another case of attempted bribery, showing that the money sharks are being Another case of attempted bricery, showing that the money sharks are being hard pushed by The Times, is that of Susan Henson, of Willow Tree court, whose case was described Priday in these columns. She holds the most damaging evidence against Money Lender Foulke. She was called upon yesterday by a colored man called upon yesterday by a colored who said he would give her $2 and co who said he would give him the receipts in her possession as Mr. Foulke wanted to see them. The old colored woman replied:

"No, indeed. Tell Mr. Foulke he cau see

Still another attempt was made to se Still another attempt was made to secure the copy of a chattel morigage and a namber of receipts issued by "Broker" Myer Newman to a widow on Eleventh street. Instead of giving the papers to Newman she brought them to The Times office, where they will be put to a better purpose than that proposed by the money lender.

Holders of notes, receipts, chattel mort gages, and other paraphernalia of Shylockism are cautioned to preserve them carefully for future reference and use.

VICTIMS ARE MULTIPLYING. Victims of the money sharks of Wash-ington flocked to The Times building all day yesterday, and letters of commen dation and complaint against usurers came with every mail. The unfortunates felt that The Times had established for them ratter in the sea of fraud and usury. In brief, here are some of the cas which will receive the legal attention of The Times' attorney and courts during the

John Sutton, of No. 1217 Wylle street northeast, on December 28, 1593, went to the Capital Guarantee Company, No. 602 F street rorthwest, to borrow $40 on new furniture, which cost him $650. He re-revised $34 50, the company making out

ANOTHER SAMPLE CASE.

An unemployed cierk, who resides on H street, made application on October 2, 1894, for a loan of $40 from the Wash-2, 1894, for a loan of $40 from the washington Mortgage Loan Company on his furniture and effects. The mortgage was made out for $40, but he received only $37.50, and was told the old story about filling and expenses. He has paid the concern $72 in eighteen months on the loan of $37.50. This usarious amount was paid at the rate of $4 every thirty days for which he holds receipts, which will be used in the courts.

A business man from Delaware, who came here and filled a cerical place in one of the government departments, but is now out of employment, had a lively experience with the Washington Morugage and Loan Company, of No. 610 F street.

He lives on North Capitol street.

Last June he went to the other of this company and asked for a lean of $75 on household goods, worth $800. The company made out a chattel mortgage and note for $55. He says the officer of the concern with whom he had the owes them $20.70. He says the officer of the concern with whom he had the dealing informed him that the company would charge him 10 per cent, per month on the loan, which is at the rate of 120 per cent, more than the highest rate of interest allowed by law in the District of Columbia. This case is in the hands of The Times lawyers.

The Times lawyers. The Times lawyers.

A gentleman who resides on Four-and-a-half street southwest states that last win-ter, when pushed for money, he bor-rowed from the Capital Loan Company, No. 602 F street, $40, for which he has since been paying $4 per mouth interest. He has already paid into their coffers $20.

He has already paid into their coffers $20, and the concern, he says, still claim that he owes them $44, a notice to which effect is sent to him every month.

The above are only a few specimen cases that have just come to light through The Times investigations. There are many more being developed daily.

In the meantime the Shylocks are becoming desperate under the first to which they are subjected.

A feeling of indignation is sweeping over the community as a result of these exposures, and many communications are posures, and many communications are being received from sympathetic humanity in all sections of the District.

This report would cover every-thing relating to his recall. The follow-ing is the text of Minister Hatch's letter Willis in answer to Secretary Repeal of the Income Tax a Good Thing for the Churches.

Dr. John Hall, of New York, Sets an Example Which Has Already Been Followed.

New York, June 8 .- The Rev. Dr. John Hall has contributed the $1,000 that his income tax might have been to the fund for Home Missions asked for by the General Assembly. It is said that many persons of wealth have thought of giving an amount of money equal to that saved by the death of the tax to charitable organintions.

In his letter to the Rev. W. C. Roberts, secretary of the board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church, Dr. Hall said in substance: "If every one would give his income tax to the fund the amount would soon be raised. I enclose a check for $1.000." The Rev. Dr. Langford, secretary of the Foreign and Home Missions of the Episcopal Church, said to-day.

Contrary to expectation, no announce ment was made resterday of the appoint-emnt to the office of collector of customs at Georgetown. Up to Friday it was con-ceded that Mr. Dorsey Clagett would secure the much-coveted position, but some-how or other clouds seem to have gathered around that genial gentleman, and per-haps he will not be the lucky man after all. It is affirmed that the statements as to the influences brought to bear on the President to secure Mr. Clagett's appointment, that have been printed during the last few days, have led the Chief Executive to alter his original purpose with respect to that gentleman. Some prominent politicians of the Dis-trict are of the opinion that he will be given the position that he formerly filled with such credit and efficiency, while others have been brought to the conclusion that he will secure the collectorship. At all events, Mr. Clargett is not certain of the place. When seen yesterday he said very little and seemed somewhat doubtful of the outcome of the Berlin, June 8.—The trial trips through the Baltic and North Sea Canal, made this week by the imperial yacht Hobenzellern and the Hamburg-American line steamer Paintia, with the chancellor, Prince Hobenlohe, the Prussian minister for the interior, Herr von Keoller, the imperial secretary for the interior, Dr. von Bost-tleber, and the minister for foreign affairs, havon Marsechal von Beaberger. Baron Marschal von Bieberstein on beard, showed that the causal is in condition for the passage of a small fleet on June 19 and 20. The Palatia just touched bottom be-tween Rendsburg and Holtenau, but it was nothing more serious than stirring up

It transpires that when landing from the Palatia at Holtenau Prince Hobeslohe had a surrow escape, as he slipped and would have fallen overboard but for Herr von Koeller, who caught hold of him and succeeded in pulling him up on deck.

According to the programme, the Kalser-Adler, with Emperor William, will head the procession of sixteen German and foreign vessels, which will pass through the canal on the evening of June 19. The Marblehead will represent the United States during the passage of the Elbe from Hamburg to Bransbuttel, and the canal will be closed to traffic until after the ceremonies are over.

THE GREAT CANAL.

The great canal which joins the Baltic Sea to the German Ocean cost about $38,000,000, and has been eight years in building. It intersects the peninsula of Schleswig Holstein from Brunsbruttel, near the mouth of the River Elbe, to Holtenau, on Kiel Bay and opposite the city of Kiel, a distance of about fifty-mine miles, The entrances at both termini have been provided with dock gates, each of which is 27 1.3 yards wide.

The lowest possible depth of water at the Brunsbattel and is about five fathous and at Holtenau the water is a trille deeper. The dockgates or slukes are operated by hydraulic power and the whole canal is lighted by electricity. Steam togs will be stationed at each mailing gale of the canal in order to assist in the passage of vessels. At several points the canal is crossed by large bridges, which, when opened, leave a free space of 64 1.4 yards. THE GREAT CANAL.

a free space of 54 1-4 yards.

The agitation in France against the French warships at Kiel hoisting the German imperial flag, bearing the sinister date "1870," has induced the Emperor not to vest any foreign ship during the celebration of the opening of the causal as, if he visited any of them, he would be compelled to visit the Hoche the French flagship, which would thereby be bound to hoist this standard.
